

COUNTRY SOPHISTICATE

"This kitchen is designed to handle a crowd, elegantly. Our challenge was to work with the large open space to create a look that marries homeliness and sophistication. Sweeping spaces and wide benchtops were a must, with simple decorative details to bring the kitchen to life. We used the large island bench with its ornamental features to introduce elegance without being too fussy. Like all of our projects, we worked with the client to custom-design the cabinetry. The doors are one of the most important elements in kitchen design because they form one of the largest surface areas. Here, we used our Hotham profile and recessed panels, tied in with renaissance-style skirting boards and colonial cornices. Stainless-steel accents complete the design."

Designer Guido Steding for Steding Interiors and Joinery

We love the social aspect of this kitchen; it's cosy yet spacious.
